ROWLAND FAMILY

BRIEF HISTORY OF JOSEPH ROWLAND AND HIS DESCENDANTS

About the year 1764 a ship load of immigrants from Hanover, Germany, entered Chesapeake Bay and landed at Hagerstown, Maryland. There was in that band of immigrants a family by the name of Rowland, consisting of father, mother and several small children. One of these children was Joseph Rowland, our ancestor. We have been unable to obtain the names of the other members of this family. There are Rowlands in southern Ohio who can trace their ancestry back to a Samuel Rowland, a revolutionary soldier, and there are several families in central Ohio, who have an ancestor by the name of Jonathan Rowland, who was also a soldier in the revolutionary War. They were both from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and, no doubt, were brothers of Joseph Rowland and members of the same family. Being unable to connect them as members of the same family, we must confine our brief history to the Joseph Rowland branch of this Rowland family in America.

JOSEPH ROWLAND

Joseph Rowland was born in Hanover, Germany, October 20, 1760. When about four years of age, he came to this country with his parents and other members of the family who took up their residence at Hagerstown, Maryland, where the family resided for a few years. From there his father removed the family to Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where he set up a grist mill which he continued to operate during the Revolutionary War.

Before reaching the age of eighteen years, Joseph enlisted in the American Army and served in the Revolutionary War as a private, being with the Pennsylvania troops under Washington's command during his campaign in and around Philadelphia. After the American army was driven out of Philadelphia and during the memorable winter of 1776-1777, while the army was in winter quarters at Valley Forge, he was transferred to the commissary department and detailed to supply flour from his father's mill at Lancaster to the camp at Valley Forge.

On one of his return trips, with his wagon loaded with flour, drawn by four horses, he was surprised by a squad of British foragers who would have overtaken and captured him had he not cut loose his best horse, which he mounted and putting spurs to him, escaped to the American camp, leaving the flour and the balance of the outfit in the hands of the British.

The following is copied from a letter received from the Adjutant General's office, War Department, Washington, D.C., dated November 11, 1925, which will show a part of his war record.

"The records of this office show that one John Rowland served in the Revolutionary War as a private, corporal, and sergeant in Captain William Alexander's Company, 7th Pennsylvania Regiment, commanded by Colonel William Irvine. He enlisted for the war, date not shown. His name first appears on the company pay roll for August, 1777, which shows commencement of pay May 27, and his name last appears on a roll dated September 9, 1778. His name also appears in a record under the head of 'State of Pennsylvania against the United States for Depreciation on Pay of the Army.' which shows sum charged 114 pounds, 2 shilling and 9 pence. Signed, Robert C. Davis, Major General."

After his return from the war, he married Christina Lehn, daughter of a German immigrant, and they went to housekeeping at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where he set up a tailor shop and followed the tailor trade. Eight children were born of this union, namely: Jonathan Rowland, Nancy Rowland, Isaac Rowland, Susan Rowland, Peter Rowland, Samuel Rowland, Christina Rowland and John Rowland.

Early in the '20's they left Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and moved their family over the mountains and settled in Orange Township, Ashland County, Ohio, and while there, the children, having grown up, married and went to homes of their own. On the 9th day of April, 1832, the wife and mother, Christina Rowland, died at the age of 70 years, 2 months and 13 days, and was buried in the Riddle cemetery northeast of Ashland, Ohio.

Joseph Rowland, after the death of his wife, made his home with his son, John Rowland, and spent the remainder of his declining years with him. In the year of 1855, he went with that family when they left Ashland County for their new home in the forests of Mifflin Township, Wyandot County, Ohio, where he died the next year, September 21, 1856, in a log house, at the ripe old age of 95 years, 11 months and 1 day; and as no cemetery was near, a plot of ground was cleared off about forty rods north of the home where he died; and he was buried there in what is now the Rowland cemetery bearing his name, two and one-half miles southeast of Kirby, Ohio.

JONATHAN ROWLAND

Jonathan Rowland was killed by a falling tree in Ashland County, Ohio, on the 9th day of February, 1847, and was buried beside his mother in the Riddle cemetery. He left one son, Alexander Rowland, who made his home with his uncle, John Rowland, until he became of age. After he left that home we have no further knowledge of him.

NANCY ROWLAND

Nancy Rowland married Thomas Hamilton and they moved to Knox County, Ohio. They afterwards returned to Ashland County. They left one son, Jefferson Hamilton, who served in the Civil War and died leaving no descendants. They also left a daughter, who married James Reese. We have no record of their descendants.

ISAAC ROWLAND

Isaac Rowland located near Doylestown, in Wayne County, where he died leaving no descendants.

SUSAN ROWLAND

Susan Rowland married Cyrus Klawson and they settled in Knox County, Ohio. We know nothing of their descendants.

PETER HOWLAND

Peter Howland was born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, in the year 1791. He married Elizabeth Heifner, who was born May 4, 1789. In the early '20's, when his father moved to Ohio, he came along with his family and settled on a farm in Ashland County, Ohio, where he resided until about the year 1850, when he moved with his family and settled near Ashby, in Hillsdale County, Michigan. He was the father of six sons and one daughter, namely: Jacob Howland, David C. Howland, Samuel D. Howland, Christina Howland, Peter Lane Howland and John Miller Howland.

About the year 1855, the family, all but David C. Howland, moved to the state of Iowa and became well-to-do farmers. The daughter never married. The sons all married and had families, some living in and around Knoxville, Iowa, and others scattered over the West. We will follow with a sketch of each family separately.

JOHN HOWLAND

John Howland was born at Lancaster, Pennsylvania on the 4th day of May, 1804, and came with his parents when they moved to Ashland County, Ohio, in the early '20's. He worked with the gang of "farm boys" that did the principal digging of the Erie and Ohio canal. On the 15th day of April, 1835, he was married to Catherine Ady, a granddaughter of Robert Jewell, who was one of the earliest settlers of Ashland County, and settled on a farm a few miles east of Ashland, Ohio, where he resided until early in 1855. He then traded his farm for a tract of timber land in Kiffin Township, Wyandot County, Ohio, to which place he moved with his family and aged father. The first year he cleared off a small piece of the land and erected a log house and stable, having a comfortable shelter for his family and stock to more winter set in. He then set to work clearing up the farm and putting it under cultivation, but before advancing very far in the work, he took down with a fever and died April 13, 1857, before reaching the age of 53 years. He was buried in the Howland cemetery beside his father, being the second person laid away there and within seven months after the burial of his father. He was the father of two children, a daughter and son, Susanna Rowland and Marquis Lafayette Rowland.
